A Short Chapter on Divorce.

Causes op, in the Several States.—More than thirty causes of discree, says the "Tribune," are recognized by the statutes of the different States. In South Carolina not one has ever been obtained. In Virginia there are three causes, namely; natural and incurable impotency at the time of marriage, idiotey and bigamy. In Alabams, adultery or two years abandonment. In Rhode Island, impotency, adultery, extreme cruelty, willful desertion for the space of five years, continued drunkenness, neglect of the husband to provide necessaries for the subsistence of the wife, gross misbohavior and wickedness repugnant to the marriage contract. In New Jersey divorce is granted for prior existing marriage, adultery and willful absence for five years. In Vermont, for non-sure wented increasely, importency, force or age, mental incapacity, impotency, force or fraud, adultery, confinement in the State Prison for three years or more, intolerable severity, willful desertion for three years, absence for seven years unheard of, and where the husband, being of ability, grossly and wantonly neglects to provide for his wife. In Maine, for adultery, impotency, descrition for five years, joining the Shakers for five years, confinement in the State Prison of any one of the United States for five years, fraud in obtaining the consent of the other party, habitual drunkenness for three years; a marriage with an Indian or mulatto is void, and marringe with an Indian or mulatto is void, and an imprisonment for felony in the State works a divorce without any judicial proceeding. In Kentucky, for habitual drunkenness, condemnation for felony, cruelty of the husband, and for several other causes which we forbest to mention. In Illinois, for impotency, willful desertion for two years, extreme cruelty, habitual drunkenness for two years. In Missouri, for adultery, willful desertion for two years, conviction of an willful desertion for two years, conviction of an infamous crime, habitual drunkenness for two years, cruel treatment endangering life, intoler-able indignities, vagrancy of the husband. In Iowa the same causes exist as in Missouri, to which is superadded "when the parties can not live in peace and happiness, and their welfare requires a separation." The law of Arkansas is the same as in Missouri, except that one year's absence is sufficient to free the abandoned party from the bonds of marriage. In Tennesse Mississippi the law is nearly similar, while in Florida to like enactments are added habitual indulgence of violent and ungovernable temper for one year, or drunkenness or desertion for one year. In North Carolina, impotency, adultery, abandonment, turning the wife out of doors, cruelty and indignity on the part of the husband, or any other just cause. In Texas, impotency, excess, or cruel treatment, or outrages, or desertion for three years, the husband may have a divorce for adultery of the wife, and the wife when the husband abandons her and lives in adultery. In Maryland the law is the same as in New York, except that abandonment and three years' absence from the State is a cause of divorce. In Georgia the old Eng-lish occlesiastical law governs. In New Hamp-shire and Ohio similar laws to those of Vermont prevail. Extreme cruelty and absence for three years are causes for divorce in Delaware, to which Pennsylvania has added intolerable indignities. Congress has never conferred the power to grant divorce upon the Courts in the District of Columbia. DIVORCES TOO EASILY OBTAINED .- We think, says the Pittsburg "Journal," in commenting upon a divorce case now before the Pennsylva-nia Legislature, the most discreditable phase of public sentiment in this country is the fa-cility of obtaining divorces. We doubt whether horse-jockies trade and rue with the same fa-cility that silly girls and boys marry and are divorced. Our courts already have jurisdiction in large classes of cases unwarranted by reason and revelation. And, worst of all, whenever some silly girl that has money, changes her mind, the Legislature is besieged to disgrace the State by interfering to grant a divorce. It Mrs. Fry has a divorce granted her, then we recommend them to pass an act allowing every susband and wife that continue in a huff fo six hours without intermission, to be divorced Fifty thousand married couple in Pennsylvania could present just as good grounds for a divorce as Emily Fry; and if their fathers were as fool-ish as Mrs. Emily Fry's father has proved himself to be, might excite the community by applicain the State must disapprove of all such appli-

The "case" which suggested the above remarks, may be briefly told. Some time in the summer of last year, a Mr. Horace B. Fry, a broker of Philadelphia, in moderate circumstances, married a Miss Emily Grigg, whose father, Mr. John Grigg, a retired bookseller was in affluent circumstances. The marriage took place under the most favorable auspie the parents of the bride cordially giving their consent to a union evidently based on affection and mutual attachment. The young couple proceeded on a wedding tour. At West Point they "honeyed" about a month, when, alas! something occurred which suggested to Mr. Fry the propriety of immediately returning to Philadelphia. On Mrs. Fry's return home, she engaged in a correspondence with a cadet at West Point, which being discovered by Mr. Fry, an altercation grose, which was terminated the young married lady's abrupt departure to her paternal home. No sooner at home than, with the aid of her father's counsel and pocket, lawyers are "re tained," and a petition, setting forth Mrs. Fry' grievances, is drawn up and presented to the Legislature of Philadelphia, praying for a special act of divorce. Mr. Fry denies the allegations of his wife, with but one exception, when he was provoked to use a "rude" ex-pression; and he protests against any act of the Legislature in the premises, alleging that the case, as being one of conflicting statements of facts, can only be properly sifted in a court of law—to which he purposes to make appeal.

A BISHOP'S STATEMENT .- On a blank leaf at the end of a copy of Postificale Romanum, printed in 1627, now in the library of Trinity College, Cambridge, England, is the following, by owner, Bishop Goodman, of Gloucester: "I was Parson of Stapleford Abbotts, in Essex, A. D. 1807, where I continued neer 13 years. Then I was Parson of West Ildesley, in Berks, where I continued neer 30 years; and in neither of my parishes (I praise God for it) I had—I, Not a beggar. 2, Not at Ale house. 3, Not a spenibrift. 6, In the weeke dayes, noe labouring manner was wanted a dayer, noe labouring manner was wanted. ing man ever wanted a dayes worke. 7, On the Sundaye, noe poor man dined at his owne House, but was ever invited. 8, Noe man was over presented for fornication, or any great erime. 8, Noe murder, robbery, or Felonie ever committed in the Parish. 10, Noe man ever came to a violent death. 11, I never had any houses burnt in my Parish. 12, I never had two men that dyed of the plague in my parishes, until Mr. Newberry had his Sequestration, and then a plague came, and a fire burnt all my Parish in effect, and when I gave him orders then, he brought the small pox there. Godfr. Goodman, Glouer."

There exists in the consolation given by a woman a delicacy which has always something motherly, far-sighted and complete; but when to these words of peace and hope are joined the grace and gesture, that eloquence of love which goes to the heart, and particularly when the benefactress is beautiful, it is impossible to ENGLAND.—The Parliamentary proceedings have been uninteresting. The war question was unchanged, and preparations were continued. There are vague and unconfirmed reports of a French loan of £20,000,000. Later intelligence from India had been received, bringing the news of the close of the campaign in Oude, and the destruction of all the forts.

In the House of Lords, the state of affairs in Ionian Islands were under discussion. The Earl of Carnaven said that the various documents which had appeared in the papers were perfectly authentic.

The Earl of Derby deprecated a partial dis-cussion of the matter at the present time, and on his suggestion the subject was dropped.

In the House of Commons Mr. Lever took the seat for Galway, and Mr. Salmons for Greenwich-the latter taking the oath accord-

Mr. Duncomb gave notice that he would move that the resolution, permitting Jews to take their seats, omitting in the oaths required the words, "on the true faith of a Christian," be made a standing order.

FRANCE.—The article for which La Presse received a warning is precisely of the same tenor as those which it had been publishing for weeks previous, and the general supposition was that the measure was taken on the repre-sentations of the Austrian Embassador. The warning had a good effect on the Paris Bourse. The rentes on the 17th advanced nearly 1/2, but the rise was not fully sustained. The closing quotations were 68f. for money and 67f. 90c. for account.

mencing the Suez Canal. ITALY.—The Paris Correspondent of the London Times asserts on trustworthy grounds that the King of Sardinia is determined on making an attempt to drive out the Austrians with the object of constituting for himself a kingdom strong enough to resist Austria on the one hand, and France on the other, if need be, and that it will comprise Venice, and at least 12,000,000 subjects.

An absolute certainty is felt at the Court at Paris that France will help Piedmont against Austria, and that Russia will be with him pas-sively if Austria be left to fight alone, but actively and openly if any other power assists Austria.

England and Prussia are expected to be neutral. The above is asserted to be the definite plan of the King of Sardinia and his Cabinet, nothing but the withdrawal of France will divert him from it.

The Tragedy at Hawesville, Ky.

It appears that some time last summer a difficulty occurred between Thomas S. Lowe, a merchant of Hawesville, Ky., and Cicero Maxwell, a candidate for State Attorney, arising out of a political discussion at Cloverport, ky. After numerous notes had passed, says the Louisville Courier, between the parties, Mr. Lowe, on Tuesday last, publicly denounced Mr. Maxwell as a coward, and declared that if Mr. Maxwell did not meet him in half an hour, he should publicly assault him. Mr. Maxwell made his appearance, and Mr. Lowe was at once set upon by Maxwell and a mob of twenty or more. They fired rapidly with revolvers, rifles, etc. A man named Aldridge, a friend of Lowe, fired on the mob, who fired on him in return, killing him on the spot.

Mr. Lowe took refuge in the house of a widow lady, which the mob at once surrounded. After some time, they piedged themselves not to molest him if he would disarm and give himself up; whereupon he divested himself of nearly every thing and came out. He had no sooner made his appearance, than he was sooner made his appearance, than he was again assailed in the most cowardly man-ner by the mob. He fled amid a shower of balls, and was again evertaken, after receiving two or three shots, and conducted to the court house, and thence taken and confined in the jail. On Wednesday morning the jail was sur-rounded by the mob, and six of the number rounded by the mob, and six of the number entered, armed with revolvers, and while their victim lay totally unarmed and exhausted from his wounds, they presented their pistols and fired, literally riddling his body. The utmost excitement prevails. Some of the most prominent men of the place have been threatened by the mob, and ordered to leave immediately.

diately LATEST.—By telegraph received from Louisville last night we learn that the Hopkins County Grand Jury find no grounds for indict-ing the murderers of Lowe. Several citizens have left Hawesville, fearing violence from the

In that letter Mr. O'Brien says: "In offering this contribution I wish it to be distinctly understood that I do not ap-prove the formation of secret societies. In-deed, I much doubt whether there is in Ireland any one person who deprecates so much as myself secret combinations. The reason is obvious: I am, on the one hand, anxiously desirous that the whole Irish nation should be imbued with patriotic feelings and with na-tional aspirations; while, on the other, I am convinced that nothing can tend more to check such feelings and such aspirations than the adoption of a course of proceeding which is discountenanced by every influential patriot, lay and elerical, in this kingdom."

From the Louisville Courier of Saturday we tak the following:

The river was falling very fast yesterday—fully 3 feet in 24 hours—with 15 or 16 feet water on the falls last evening. The entire wharf, from end to end, was sufficiently clear of water for the passage of drays and the reception of freight. The weather continues blustering but clear, with a continued high wind prevailing all day, and at times blowing a gale. This made the river as rough as a sea, the huge waves tossing the locate about at will, and lashing the shores at a furious rate.

The high winds and waves proved very beneficial to the city, as the continued commotion of the water washed the wharf along the shore perfectly clear of mud, and carried it away.

By accurate measurement we have ascertained that the river had fallen altogether 15 feet since it commenced, at the canal locks. That would make, at the head of the falls, leaving 42 feet water in the clasmel.

The gas men were busy resterday putting up the the following:

the head of the lais, leaving as seet water in the channel.

The gas men were busy yesterday putting up the gas poets along the wharf that had been prostrated during the high water. Those along the new Fultz wharf have been moved back to high ground.

The steamer Southron, plying along the branches of Red River, went ashore on Boeff during the late rise in the former stream. Starting for a cotton plie about two miles from the river, she reached it, but run aground, and before she could be got off the water fell, leaving her high and dry about two miles from the river.

To the St. Louis Republican, of Saturday, we are indebted for the following items:

The river at this point swelled three inches in the 24 hours ending at dark last evening, and find become about stationary. We have no change of importance to report in any of the upper rivers. The Hilmois is about stationary, with plenty of water from Lassalle down. The Mississippi is falling from Keckuk down, with seven feet in the channel. The Missouri is in good stage from St. Joseph to the mouth.

The weather was fine, yesterday, and was stormy in the west. Business on the landing was brisk.

Arrivals were the Sky Lark and E. M. Ryland, from the Missouri, Americas from Naples, New York and Quincy from Keckuk, Persia from Cincinnati, Baltimore from Alton, Diana from Lasalle, and J. C. Swon from New Orleans.

The Philadelphia, which arrived from Memphis on Thursday night at 10 o'clock, had 22 cabin passengers on the trip, and 327 deckers—by far the largest passenger trip ever on that boat.

The steamer Orleans has made her last trip. Her owners have resolved not to repair her late damages by storm, and she came down to the wharf-boat yesterday to reship her freight on the Juo. Walsh. The Orleans will be demolished forthwith. She has been a good and faithful boat, but is old and not worth repairing. Her career was not an inglorious one, and she did not do the insurance companies a dirty trick by sinking with a large and valuable cargo.

The suit lately pending between the steamers John H. Dickey and New Uncle Sam, growing out of the Collision of those boats, has, we learn, been compromised and amicably settled by the parties themselves. We learn from Gen. N. Banney that the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad have discontinued their ticket agency in New Orleans, and deposed the former agent. The St. Louis, Cairo and New Orleans Railroad Line have accordingly established an agency in that city for themselves, and have appointed Capt. Clifford G. Wayne, of the Flying Cloud, Ticket Agent of the line. He will take charg from the river. To the St. Louis Republican, of Saturday, we are particulars of the accident to the Madison;

The Madison broke a shaft and other machinery in the vicinity of Napoleon, on Thursday last, and arrived here on one wheel yesterday, in tow of the stern wheeler Crescent City. The Madison had a big trip of freight and passengers from New Orleans to Cincinnati, and transferred thirty of her passengers to the new Uncle Sam, retaining about 400 tuns of freight. Capt. Hoople made an arrangement with the Crescent City at Napoleon to tow the Madison from Napoleon to Memphis for the matter of $200, intending to repair here; but he found it impracticable to have his work done here; and agreed to pay the Crescent City $500 more to tow him on to Cincinnati. As they are lashed together they make about five miles an hour.

The steamers Defender, David Gibson, and Landle The steamers Defender, David Gibson, and Landis passed Cairo for New Orleans last Friday. The Memphis, on her way to this port, passed the ame day. [Forwarded by the Adams' Express Company

CAIRO, March 3-7 P. M. EDITOR PRESS:—Steamer Landis left Cincinnati, March 1, 8 P. M., with 475 tuns freight, 101 cabin and 77 deck passengers. Took on freight at Madison and Paducah. Had very bad and stormy weather for the last thirty hours, Leave here with a fair trip of freight and full of people. All well.
